

Jordan & Jordan FinTech Internship Program is Underway

New York, NY – June 10, 2020: Jordan & Jordan (J&J) is pleased to announce that their paid FinTech internship program, created for 2020 College Graduates and Veterans impacted by the job market is off to a successful start. Over 500 resumes were received, dozens of candidates interviewed and tested, and eight Financial Interns are on boarded. Their career plans were delayed or halted during this Covid-19 Pandemic crisis and J&J is committed to providing them the opportunity to utilize these 12 weeks to gain knowledge about the Securities Industry so they will be better prepared for their next career step. The interns will gain valuable industry experience as they learn from subject matter experts and work collaboratively on a myriad of assignments with staff members. The eight interns have a wide variety of backgrounds and degrees from Villanova, Michigan Technology University, Notre Dame, Stony Brook, James Madison, Loyola, Seton Hall and Lehigh. The interns will be working on projects regarding Regulatory Compliance, Market Data, Research, FIF/FIX/RIXML Associations, and Marketing and Technology across all practices.

Tom Jordan, President & CEO, is very impressed by this talented group. He said, “These interns will have successful careers within the Fintech community, and we are pleased that we will benefit from their involvement and at the same time make our small contribution to kicking off their professional lives.”

The internship program is rolling admissions, and we are still looking to hire 2020 college graduates and recently discharged veterans.
